

IPPO Coursework2 - worksheet.pdf

My final design is shown below.

Comparing to the initial design, I simplified the code of the controller: it is only responsible for the interaction with GUI and does not include any logical operation related to the model. When the view needs to be updated, the controller just ask `Player` class for the information it needs.